Whole school approach

Queen Elizabeth's Grammar, Alford believes that all pupils have a right to a broad, balanced, relevant, personalised and differentiated curriculum that challenges them to achieve academic and personal success. Some children and young people, however, need educational provision that is additional to or different from this. This is special educational provision under Section 21 of the Children and Families Act 2014. It is our intention that pupils have access to early, effective procedures to identify difficulties, and that these difficulties are supported successfully through a graduated response that includes teachers, support staff, parents and pupils throughout.

A definition of Special Educational Needs

A pupil has SEN if he or she has a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her.

A pupil has a learning difficulty or disability if he/she has:

- A significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age, or
 - A disability which prevents or hinders him/her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post 16 education.
- (SEN Code of Practice 2019)

Disabled Children and Young People

Many young people with SEND have a disability under the Equality Act 2010, that is '...a physical or mental impairment which has a long-term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities'. 'Long term' is defined as 'a year or more' and 'substantial' is defined as 'more than minor or trivial'. The definition includes sensory impairment such as those affecting sight or hearing, and long-term health conditions such as asthma, diabetes, epilepsy, and cancer.

(SEND Code of Practice 2019)

Policy review and responsibility

The policy will be reviewed annually in line with DfE requirements or earlier if there are significant changes to regulations or staffing. The SENDCo is responsible for reviewing the policy, subject to further approval by the Headteacher and Governors.

Roles and responsibilities

It is recognised that the development of an inclusive curriculum is a whole school responsibility. To facilitate the inclusion of all pupils and to monitor the effectiveness of the academy's inclusive policy, the SENDCo reports to the Headteacher on all matters relating to pupils with Special Educational Needs.

Inclusion and access to the curriculum

The school promotes the inclusion of all pupils in a number of ways. These include:

1. Adapting teaching to respond to the strengths and needs of all pupils ensuring high expectations and aspirations is encouraged.
2. The role of the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Co-ordinator (SENDCo), who lead the day to day provision of students with special educational needs and all matters relating to the inclusion of pupils to the curriculum. The SENDCo reports to the Headteacher at weekly meetings and the Heads of School at their monthly meeting.
3. The sharing of information by the SENDCo on the four broad areas of specific educational need within the Code of Practice 2019:
 - Communication and interaction (e.g. autistic spectrum conditions)
 - Cognition and learning (e.g. dyslexia and difficulties with processing)
 - Social, emotional and mental health (in partnership with heads of school (HoS))
 - Sensory and/or physical needs (including health needs in partnership with HoS).
4. The support of class teachers in meeting the needs of students with an identified special educational need (with or without an Education, Health and Care Plan or Statement of SEN). Teachers also support pupils through the planning, implementing and reviewing of additional or different provision.
5. The work of the Subject Leaders, who regularly review those with special educational and health needs and who promote the inclusion of all pupils through effective and varied teaching and learning strategies. This occurs through differentiation in lessons, through schemes of work which recognise students' different levels of ability and through assessment strategies which enable pupils' needs to be identified and targeted in future teaching and learning strategies.
6. The work in support clubs, which take place at lunch times, and intervention work at KS3 for those at Foundation Band level.
7. The work of teaching assistants who are employed to assist pupils with Education, Health and Care Plans or Statements of SEN, who would otherwise not be able to access the curriculum fully.
8. The work of teaching assistants to support literacy, numeracy, organisation and pastoral difficulties.
9. A lead teacher for gifted and talented pupils and mentoring support for selected gifted and talented pupils.
10. Setting, which usually takes place in Mathematics from Year 7 and English in Years 9 – 11, to ensure students receive appropriate provision in these areas.

11. Encouraging able students to attend external extension courses. The academy also organises a Summer School for Year 6 - 9 students.
12. The effective provision of careers guidance by the Careers Service (ie through the use of specialist resources).
13. The provision of reading materials, in the library, which are accessible and appealing to all abilities.

Access Arrangements for exams

The SENDCo works to see whether your child may be entitled to further support through additional access arrangements. Examples include: 25% extra time, use of a word processor, use of coloured or enlarged paper, readers and scribes. This additional support has to comply strictly with JCQ regulations.

Partnership with parents and pupils

The central aim of the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Policy is to ensure all students receive the most appropriate assistance to enable them to achieve their potential. The academy's partnership with parents is crucial to this aim and a whole school priority. In addition to formal occasions for visiting school (e.g. parents' evenings), parents are invited to contact the SENDCo with concerns, and make appointments to discuss pupils' progress and educational needs with the HoS, Headteacher and/or SENDCo. The SEND Information Report provides additional information about how pupils and parents can be involved. These include the list of external organisations which are accessible to both the school and parents.

Identifying Special Educational Needs and Assessment Procedures

The School SEND Information Report clarifies how pupils are identified and then supported within the SEND Code of Practice four broad areas of SEN. The school recognises that a number of factors may impact on the progress and development of a pupil's learning, although they may not necessarily be in themselves a special educational need. For example attendance and punctuality, health and welfare, EAL and being looked after. The school has appropriate policies and specialist teachers to cater for these.

In Year 7, students' needs are initially identified by the school's analysis of KS2 results, CATs scores, standardised spelling and reading scores, and handwriting speed scores, as well as reports from primary schools, subject teachers and form tutors. Students with scores considered as 'below average' for the cohort will be monitored closely by the HoS and SENDCo. All scores will be used by subject teachers to inform planning, teaching and assessment.

Throughout Y7-11, pupils are monitored through the usual Home Learning and class work tasks, and through projected grades and examination results. Pupils are referred to the Head of School and SENDCo in cases where they do not seem to be making the expected level of progress or when parental concerns have been raised. Identification criteria for SEN will be used in discussion with the HoS, and the SENDCo may administer further psychometric tests to explore the possibility of specific weaknesses and to see if a pupil qualifies for examination access arrangements.

Following discussion between the SENDCo, HoS and parents, one of the following courses of action will be followed:

- further focused monitoring of the pupil by the HoS over an agreed period (via the 'focus group');
- implementation of generic strategies for specific difficulties (for example, dyslexia-friendly strategies) within the normal classroom environment, with progress monitored by the SENDCo over an agreed period;
- special educational provision (SEP), which is additional to or different from the provision for other pupils in the class. Results of tests will inform the planning of SEP by the class teacher and SENDCo, in discussion with the pupil and parents. Strategies for parental support will also be discussed. Expected outcomes and planned provision will be recorded on a SEP Plan, with termly reviews scheduled.

Supporting pupils with medical conditions

The school recognises that these pupils need to be fully supported so that they can have full access to the curriculum, school trips, examinations and physical education. There are trained first aiders and all staff are trained to support students with chronic illnesses, with regular contact with parents being maintained.

Mental Health and Wellbeing

The school recognises the significant impact that mental health issues can have on a pupil's academic progress and general wellbeing. There is a structured programme within Tutorial lessons that covers these areas, and all pupils are supported by form tutors, their head of school, the headteacher, the anti-bullying committee (run by sixth form students) and anti-bullying reps in every form group. Furthermore, students with SEND have mentors with whom they meet regularly. Where appropriate, referrals are made to Healthy Minds and CAMHS and mentoring is provided by someone with whom the pupil feels comfortable.

Staff training

The SEND Information Report provides detailed information about the qualifications and further professional development training which staff undertake in order to support pupils with SEND.

Accessibility

Every reasonable adjustment is taken to make provision for pupils with disabilities defined by the Equality Act 2010. Almost all classrooms are accessible by wheelchair or to pupils with restricted mobility. A lift gives access to upstairs classrooms (including the Science and Language block) and ramps are available to enter and exit the buildings. When a room is not accessible, alternative arrangements are made. There are disabled access toilets, wide corridors and access to equipment which supports learning.

Provision and Review Procedures

The SENDCo provides regularly updated information regarding all pupils who have been identified as requiring SEP, providing advice on strategies for effective inclusion in the curriculum and aiding teachers in monitoring their progress.

In many cases, generic strategies are sufficient and effective in supporting the progress of pupils with identified difficulties in the normal classroom environment, and all teachers are trained in these areas. These include strategies for students with hearing impairment, and dyslexia-friendly strategies.

If pupils do not make the required progress under the monitoring of the SENDCo and/or in response to general support strategies, they will have individual strategies recorded on the SEP Plan, along with specific provision, planned by teachers and supported by the SENDCo, to support progress and move towards expected outcomes. The pupil and parents will be involved in the planning and termly review of this Plan. Provision may involve enhanced adult support or teacher-led interventions, depending on the nature of the provision and level of difficulty. Where specific provision and/or TA support is implemented, regular communication with parents will be encouraged to ensure that strategies are supported and reinforced, where appropriate, at home.

The advice and support of outside agencies will be sought if the pupil does not make the expected progress towards the expected outcomes on the SEP Plan. This will either be through individual contact, for example with the educational psychologist, or through multi-agency partnership. This may, in extraordinary circumstances, lead to the school requesting a statutory assessment for an Education, Health and Care Plan.

Partnerships with other schools

The academy operates a well-established transition and induction programme to facilitate the process of transfer. The SENDCo visits all those pupils with Statements of SEN or Education, Health and Care Plans who are transferring to the academy, and meets with their parents. Visits may also be made to pupils with higher levels of SEP.

Evaluation of learning support provision

The effectiveness of the academy's policy is evaluated annually by staff and governors through analysis of:

1. Pupils' progress in literacy, numeracy, behaviour and a variety of test and examination results, including GCSE, in comparison to other students nationally.
2. The success of Special Educational Provision as outlined on SEP Plans.
3. The views of parents and pupils.
4. The implementation by staff of relevant policies and procedures to ensure all pupils are challenged and fulfil their potential.

Enquiries

Parents with any enquiries or complaints regarding provision for children with Special Educational Needs should contact the SENDCo at the academy, or write directly to the Headteacher.
